Dear Rex:

I wanted to thank you for your participation in our Year-End Sales Meeting and Awards Banquet on the 16th. The feedback from all who attended has been a consistent; "Best Party Ever!"

Your routine was appropriate, hilarious and your presentation style and delivery of the material brought it to life. Story telling is a true art, bringing images to the listener through the delivery of well-crafted words and animated delivery. Exposing the humor of the "truths of life" resonates in the reality of all of our lives. Using the context of relationships and the differences between men and women is genius and timeless. Your performance combined them all.

I am left with the warmth of knowing we made the night special, and the challenge of what can I do to follow it next year.

Best regards,

Wayne P. Hill
